

WOLFSCHÄDE

Darwinism depends on creating confusion. Darwinists try to distract people, to prevent them reflecting on larger issues and instead, to mislead them with conjecture. They try to convince people that transitional life forms once existed, by constantly repeating the same tall tales. The fact is, however, that fossils represent concrete scientific evidence. Though constantly searching for evidence to confirm the theory of evolution, Darwinists have never found any. The evidence obtained so far—of countless living fossils—all refutes evolution.
