Adnan Oktar had made statements encouraging friendship and brotherhood

In his books, other works and statements given during interviews, Adnan Oktar states that relations between societies must be grounded in friendship, love and brotherhood. Asked how an end can be put to the pain and suffering in Turkey's neighboring regions, he says that all problems can be resolved if approached in a spirit of love and compassion. Mr. Oktar frequently states that with the establishment of the Turkish-Islamic Union, conflict, fighting, anarchy and terror will be eradicated, and that not only Muslim societies, but also the whole of Europe, the USA, Russia, China and Israel will all find peace. He describes a system in which everyone, from any nation or from any faith, can live in peace and security. Once the Turkish-Islamic Union has been set up, there will be a climate in which Darwinist-materialist policies based on mutual oppression and exploitation, are entirely eliminated, and a prosperous, democratic, civilized and enlightened climate in which everyone can be happy and secure. Instead of a false system that maintain that one can only be strong by ruthlessly crushing and annihilating others, there will be a societal order that draws strength from mutual support, that draws wealth from mutual protection and develops with a sense of understanding and tolerance. The issue that Mr. Oktar particularly emphasizes is that from that unity and understanding will emerge comfort and security from which all can benefit and prosper. It is impossible for a society to be made happy by the oppression or suffering of others, and true happiness will come from living as friends and brothers.

This model that Mr. Oktar sets out in his books, other writings and talks has elicited a wide response in Turkey and the rest of the world. One of the most recent indications of this was a speech by Turkish Prime Minister Tayyip Erdogan. In his "Address to the Nation" on August 30, 2008, the prime minister made comments entirely in agreement with the conception encouraged and described by Mr. Oktar. He said that Turkey's new foreign policy aim was to bring peace and stability to the region, for which reason the country had adopted a rational and balanced diplomatic path, and that a "co-operation from which everyone can benefit" lies at the heart of that policy.

PRIME MINISTER TAYYIP ERDOGAN'S STATEMENT

"We are trying to fulfill our responsibility to urge the parties to find a diplomatic solution with common sense. We say that NOBODY SHOULD SEEK TO BENEFIT AT THE COST OF OTHERS IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS. There can be no gain from conflict. Harming peace and stability in the Caucasus, in a way to incite deep conflicts, will have serious results for global peace and stability. We call on all parties to avoid a hostile power struggle in which everyone will more or less lose and have to pay a price; instead, we are calling for a competition based on CO-OPERATION, FROM WHICH ALL CAN BENEFIT."

STATEMENTS BY ADNAN OKTAR

Turkmeneli TV (April 22, 2008)

"Not a day must be lost in setting up the Turkish-Islamic Union. This will be to everyone's advantage, and will disadvantage neither NATO nor the European Union. IT IS TO THE ADVANTAGE OF THE WHOLE WORLD. CHINA WILL BENEFIT, AND RUSSIA, especially Russia. THE EUROPEAN UNION WILL BENEFIT AND AMERICA WILL BECOME RICH AND POWERFUL. THERE ARE GREAT ADVANTAGES AND BENEFITS IN ALL REGARDS. But Turkish leadership seems absolutely essential."

Vatan TV (January 12, 2008)

"This is all to their advantage. Such a union would permit Israel in particular to relax. Palestine would relax. And Armenia, and the economy would be reinvigorated. CIVILIZATION WOULD SPRING UP AGAIN, AND THE WHOLE REGION WOULD ENJOY STABILITY. Africa would enjoy an improved position.

This chaos, oppression and suffering would come to a complete end."

Asia FRA Radio (June 14,2008)

"If China wishes to trade, by all means let it do so. ... What is it that China wants? What is its interest? If it's seeking an interest, this could be trade. So let's do it, let East Turkestan trade with China. If it wants to engage in exploitation, that is totally unacceptable. What's the point in keeping a country captive? What does China want from East Turkestan, and what will it gain by keeping it captive? How can keeping it captive make China happy? What joy can that bring it? Is that a triumph? ... Let the people there go to mosques and factories in freedom. Let them converse together and share the joy of a festival. China must now perform a good deed there. The time has come. It must come forward. The whole world will love China when it says: 'We made a mistake. This country is one deserving of independence. There was no need for us to interfere in it. There was no point and no logic to it. This is no longer tolerable in the 21st century. We are withdrawing our troops. We are lifting our political pressure. We declare it to be a free state.' Everyone will respect it. China must perform this good deed."

Kaçkar TV (February 2, 2008)

"But Anatolia is not like that. For example, they will go hungry themselves in order to feed their guests, and will give them the finest beds to sleep in. They will be cold so that their guests can sleep in the warm. But you cannot find such elevated moral values anywhere else in the world. Egoism and selfishness are the order of the day everywhere else. These moral virtues need to prevail across the world. That is only possible through the Turkish-Islamic Union and through Turkey playing the role of leader and older brother in the region. In that event, there will be no more terror or suffering or anything else. Armenia will benefit, Israel will benefit, Palestine will benefit, Egypt will benefit, Iran will benefit, America will benefit and Europe will benefit. Europe will grow richer and America will become richer. This union will bring a magnificent peace to the world. This is an urgent need, and is not a claim to any racial superiority. It is a claim based on the superiority of love and moral virtue. It is a wish to bring greater moral virtue to the region."

Türkiye, 31 August 2008
In his 'Address to the Nation' the prime minister issued a call to the super powers: War benefits nobody

In his 'Address to the Nation' the prime minister issued a call to the super powers: War benefits nobody

Erdogan called for stability for the Caucasus, which turned into a battleground for Russia and the USA, and for co-operation for all.

Erdogan said: "... We say that nobody should seek to benefit at the cost of others in international relations. There can be no gain from conflict. Harming peace and stability in the Caucasus, in a way to incite deep conflicts, will have serious results for global peace and stability. ... we are calling for a competition based on co-operation, from which all can benefit..."

Montrö'nün ihlal edilmemesi önemli

31 Ağustos 2008

Başbakan Tayyip Erdoğan, sıcak çatışmanın mutlak bir kazananı olmadığını belirterek, Kafkaslarda barışın bozulmasının, küresel barış ve istikrar açısından ağır sonuçlar doğuracağı uyarısında bulundu.

Halkın "Ramazan'ı da da kutlayan" Erdoğan, Ulusa Sesleniş konuşmasında, şu mesajları verdi:

Tehlikeli tırmanış

Ne yazık ki, bölgede yeni bir sıcak çatışma ortaya çıktı. İlgili aktörlerin gidişatı zamanında fark ederek çatışmayı önleyememiş olmaları üzücüdür. Bu tehlikeli tırmanış, sadece bölgemizde barış ve istikrarı tehdit etmemekte, ayaz zamanda küresel düzen için de çok ciddi bir tehdit oluştur.

etmemekte, aynı zamanda küresel düzen için de çok ciddi bir tehdit oluşturmaktadır. En azından bundan sonra tarafların aklı selim ve basiretle diplomatik bir çözüm üretmeleri için Türkiye olarak sorumluluğumuzu yerine getirmeye çalışıyoruz.

Uluslararası ilişkilerde kimse kazancını başkasının kaybında aramamalıdır. Esasen hiçbir sıcak çatışmanın mutlak kazananı da yoktur. Derin bir tarihe sahip ihtilafları kışkırtacak şekilde Kafkaslarda barış ve istikrarın bozulması, küresei barış ve istikrar açısından da çok ağır sonuçlar doğuracaktır. Tüm tarafları, az ya da çok herkesin kaybedeceği, herkesin bedel ödeyeceği çatışmacı bir güç yarışından kaçınmaya, bunun yerine, herkesin kazançlı çıkacağı, işbirliğine dayalı bir rekabete davet ediyoruz. Deniz yoluyla boğazlar üzerinden Gürcistan'a insani yardım sevkiyatının da Karadeniz'de yeni gerilimlere yol açmadan tamamlanmasını bekliyoruz. Bu aşamaya kadar olduğu gibi bundan sonra da Montrö Anlaşması'nın getirdiği sınırlamalara harfiyen riayet edilmesi büyük önem taşıyor. Anlaşmanın her hangi bir şekilde ihlal edilmemesini hassasiyetle takip ediyoruz.

Bayram kutlaması

30 Ağustos Zafer Bayramı ve Türk Silahlı Kuvvetleri günü dolayısıyla, Atatürk Kültür Merkezi hipodromunda tören düzenlendi. Törene Cumhurbaşkanı Abdullah Gül, TBMM Başkanı Köksal Toptan, Başbakan Tayyip Erdoğan, Genelkurmay Başkanı Orgeneral İlker Başbuğ, bakanlar ve davetliler katıldı. Gül ve Erdoğan hipodromdaki törenlere gelişte tokalaştı.

Hürriyet, 31 August 2008

It is essential that Montreux should not be violated

It is essential that Montreux should not be violated

Prime Minister Tayyip Erdogan said there was nothing to be gained from conflict, and warned that harming peace in the Caucasus would have serious results for global peace and stability.

Nobody will gain

Nobody should seek to benefit at the cost of others in international relations. ... we are calling for a competition based on co-operation, from which all can benefit...

https://www.harunyahya.info/en/articles/adnan-oktar-had-made-statements-encouraging-friendship-and-brotherhood