

Turkey and Russia To Benefit upon an Agreement on Visas

TASCA – November, 21, 2008

Adnan Oktar: Actually, in the essence of Islam, there is love, affection, peace, ease of mind, internal tranquility and joy. There is a kind of relief that is felt during religious holidays. It has friendship. Constituting those values among Muslim countries, constituting those values among Turkish countries... Constituting a Turkish Islamic Union under Turkey's leadership... In order to have those, in order to make good intentions prevail the world, to make sincerity prevail, to have free practices in industry, science, technology and investments; we demand removal of visa and passport problem. We want this obligation to be removed; as we desire a much more easy trade, comfortable ways of investment, a comfortable way of exchanging love and friendship.

In other words, just showing the identity card has to be enough to cross the border. Actually, we don't even need them to show. I mean, I should be able to get my identity card and go to Azerbaijan, to Syria, to Kazakhstan. I should be able to go to Morocco, Tunisia, Algeria. I should get on a boat and arrive to Tunisia, Algeria. I could socialize there with my brothers. We'll dine together, we will remember Allah together. And we come back, the other day. If I need to trade, I'll trade. We desire a system like that, a unity of love. But, of course when there are steady countries, when there is an running system, there is no need to interfere. The municipalities have already been fulfilling their jobs perfectly, the states have been running their duties perfectly, they do not allow intemperance. In this atmosphere of love; terror, disorder, fight and poverty will all come to an end. It is not force, but rather love and sincerity that becomes the fundamental.

Reporter: Thank you so much. What do you think about the policy Turkey carries out in Caucasia?

Adnan Oktar: Excellent, excellent, it's quite nice. They are all our brothers, they all are pieces that fall apart from us; Russian nation is also very nice, they are very lovely people, they have always lived with Turkish people in peace. Moreover; Russia is at the same time a Turkish state and has a Muslim population. They are even trying to join the Organization of the Islamic Conference. I mean Russia is also our land, our soil, there is only a difference of states, that's all. It is necessary to treat them very friendly and very affectionately; because there are millions of Turks living in Russia. And there are millions of Muslims, wherever you go there are Muslims in Russia MashaAllah. That's why we shouldn't take them as strangers. Those are our lands as well InshaAllah, and our brothers are there, InshaAllah.
