

FOX SKULL

Foxes have not changed at all over the last 46 or even 53 million years. If even older fox remains are discovered, these will also be seen to have undergone no changes at all. It is therefore meaningless for Darwinists to keep insisting on their myth of evolution. The science of genetics has done away with evolution's supposed "mechanisms", and microbiology has demonstrated that living systems cannot evolve. Paleontology has proved that species do not change. Evolutionists must now put an end to their artificial efforts to keep alive this theory, which is on the point of collapse. All the evidence and all the sciences show that living things are created.

<https://www.harunyahya.info/en/articles/fox-skull-18076>