

The Role Of The Theory of Evolution in School Attacks

A large number of students in schools have been killed in attacks using weapons on schools in Europe and the USA in recent years. The media have generally suggested that these attacks are the work of people with depression or psychopathic behavior (antisocial personality disorder). Looked at closely, however, there is another more striking factor behind these attacks; the theory of evolution which claims that life is a struggle between weak and strong.

Thirteen people were murdered in the attack by Columbine High School final year students Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold, who then killed themselves, in the U.S. state of Colorado on 20 April, 1999. One newspaper report described the reason for the massacre as follows; "It has emerged that Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold, who killed 13 fellow-students in the attack on Columbine High School, were influenced by Darwin's theory of 'natural selection'." [1]

During the attack, Eric Harris wore a T shirt that made the origin of the violence he perpetrated perfectly clear. The T shirt read "natural selection." In video recordings, the pair stated that they were influenced by the ideas of natural selection and the elimination of the weak in natural selection. Darrell Scott, who lost his 13-year-old daughter Rachel in the attack and only saved his son Craig with difficulty, said that he could not understand why the motivation of the killers was completely ignored:

"Harris wore a 'Natural Selection' T-shirt on the day of the killings. They made remarks on video about helping out the process of natural selection by eliminating the weak. They also professed that they had evolved to a higher level than their classmates." [2]

Harris was so firmly convinced a Darwinist as to say that inoculating human beings and plants was an interference in nature's process of eliminating weeds. He even said there should be no warnings on dangerous goods; "let natural selection take its course. All the fat, ugly, retarded, crippled dumbass, stupid ... in the world would die ... Maybe then the human race can actually be proud of itself." [3] he said.

Barry Arrington, lawyer for a family who lost six children at Columbine, described how devoted to Darwinism Eric Harris was:

"I read through every single page of Eric Harris's journals; I listened to all of the audio tapes and watched the videotapes ... It became evident to me that Harris consciously saw his actions as logically arising from what he had learnt about evolution. Darwinism served as his personal intellectual rationale for what he did. There cannot be the slightest doubt that Harris was a worshipper of Darwin and saw himself as acting on Darwinian principles." [4]

On the web site "Psikiyatri ve Hayat," expert psychiatrist Dr. Kubilay Boğoçlu considered the details of the attack at Columbine High School and psychological analyses of the perpetrators. Boğoçlu emphasized on the site that the attackers' first victim was specially selected. This was female student Rachel Scott. Rachel's father was a clergyman and Rachel had been raised within the Christian culture. The name of one performance she put on at school was Watch the Lamb, for instance. Klebold knew about that project since he personally helped Rachel during the preparations. In other words, the first victim was the daughter of a clergyman and had put on a performance about the need to protect the weak. [5]

Harris and Klebold, on the other hand, regarded themselves as strong and superior people who had to eliminate the weak. In a video recording during which he described natural selection by the elimination of the weak, Harris claimed that they had evolved to a higher level than their classmates. [6]

Harris expressed his Darwinist attitudes in this way on his website:

"...im comin for EVERYONE soon, and i WILL be armed to the ... teeth and i WILL shoot to KILL and i WILL ... KILL EVERYTHING!... I am the law, if you don't like it, you die. If I don't like you or I don't like what you want me to do, you die... So thats the only way to solve arguments with all you ... out there, I just kill!" [7]

It is a fact that ideas within the theory of evolution that encourage aggression and moral degeneration, such as life being a battlefield and the use of physical force to prevail over others is a law of nature, incite the immoral tendencies and acts of violence that have been seen in schools in recent times are regarded as normal.

Killers regard themselves as a pioneer force in the battle for survival.

According to their twisted perspective, if conflict prevails in nature, then it is as normal for people to kill those they regard as weak as it for a lion to kill an antelope. If the lion is not held to account for killing the antelope, neither should they be held to account. Because, like the lion, they are also acting in the light of the natural selection in Darwin's teaching. Indeed, it emerged at while the attack on a school in Pennsylvania in 2007 was being prepared, one of the students frequently visited a web site called "Natural Selection's Army," and this perverse logic has been shown to be a significant factor in such attacks. [8] Moreover, visitors to that site also took part in chat rooms known as "cyber school for killers." These sites were immediately closed down by the service providers once the police became aware of them. However, many teenagers still continue to play a computer game in which the opposing sides seek to annihilate one another. The name of this popular game is "Natural Selection." This shows that this term is associated by many young people with sudden and extreme violence. This game, which stars Harris and Klebold, also features original images of the Columbine massacre. [9]

According to information given to the press, one of those who frequently visited the Natural Selection's Army web site was the 18-year-old Finnish student Pekka-Eric Auvinen. On 7 November, 2007, killed 6 students and 2 officials, and then himself, in an armed attack on the Jokela High School in the town of Tuusula.

One newspaper reported headed "I Was Inspired by the Theory," described the reason behind Auvinen's massacre:

"The 18-year-old armed student Pekka Eric Auvinen who attacked a school in Finland on 7 November, 2007, shot his teacher after forcing him to kneel down first. It also emerged that Auvinen, who also shot 8 of his friends, was a regular visitor to the "Natural Selection's Army" web site inspired by Darwin's theory of evolution. Auvinen later admitted that he was inspired to perpetrate the massacre by Darwin's theory." [10]

Pekka Eric Auvinen posted a apologia on the internet before carrying out the killings. In that apologia, Auvinen described himself as a "Social Darwinist" and said that natural selection no longer worked and had even gone into reverse. He spoke of stupid, weak-minded people reproducing faster than intelligent, strong-minded ones. He was sure that if society continued to ensure the survival of the former, then the gene pool would be deteriorated. He worried over what to do about the problem. He finally concluded that life consisted merely of meaningless coincidences and lengthy, random mutations, and that trying to do anything is meaningless. "But eventually he had decided he would do his bit by becoming a natural selector, aping the pitiless indifference of nature." [11]

Auvinen set out the pretext for his reaching that decision:

"No mercy for the scum of the Earth! Humanity is overrated. It's time to put natural selection and survival of the fittest back on track." [12]

The 18-year-old Auvinen broadcast a number of video clips under different user names on various web sites. These consisted of images of violence accompanied by pessimistic and aggressive songs. Nobody should be surprised that someone who perpetrated such a bloody massacre should have had violent tendencies. However, one of these video clips was particularly striking in times of shedding light on the background to the attack. In a clip titled "My Philosophy" on one web site under the user name of I'm Gonna Kill You All 667, Auvinan stated he would commit the killing as a requirement of natural selection.

Natural selection is a concept on which Charles Darwin based his theory of evolution and expresses the idea that in the supposed struggle for survival, the strong should eliminate the weak. Natural selection is a concept based on absolutely no scientific findings. Since it was based on violence and described human beings as the result of blind natural events, it became the indispensable foundation for both atheist philosophies and for ideologies and movements that favored violence. The dictators who sent millions to their deaths in the Second World War also regarded conflict as a part of natural selection and made a great many references to Darwinism in their propaganda.

We again come across "natural selection" in the Jokela High School massacre. Auvinen called for the application of natural selection in the video in which he set out his "philosophy." Posing in a T shirt reading "Mankind Is Unimportant," Auvinen said this about the value that Darwinism attached – or rather does not attach – to man:

"I am just a normal anarchist that believes in natural selection. Humans need to put natural selection back on tracks. The animals live that way, why won't the humans. We are animals after all. We ... pollute the Earth that birthed us. Humans are the worst animals on the planet. We humans came up with a screwed up society. The whole world is screwed. All of the society shall fall. That [natural selection] is what should happen. The sooner, the better... Law is the opinion of the "higher in power" ...That's why you should take control of your own life. Live in anarchy. Do what you want and don't let others tell you what to do. This is your own life.

The weak should die while the strong live. It is survival of the fittest, natural selection. Animals die all the time. You don't see some dog crying their eyes out after they figure out that some other dog died. because another dog has died. Humans die too. It should be the same reaction. It is just all natural, not a big deal. Do not cry for someone you don't know, this is not sad... My personal philosophy, THE GENOCIDE OF THE HUMAN RACE MUST HAPPEN. (Capital letters and spelling errors in original text) [13]

In the manifesto in which he set out his views, Auvinen explicitly stated that his Darwinist opinions influenced his perpetration of the killing:

"I am prepared to fight and die for my cause ... I, as a natural selector, will eliminate all who I see unfit, disgraces of human race and failures of natural selection. No, the fact is that I am merely an animal, a human being and a dissident...The time has come to set the principle of the survival of the fittest and natural selection back on its feet." [14]

The Effects of One-Sided Darwinist Education

By spreading the lie that there is no purpose to human life, Darwinist education turns people into psychologically sick individuals, pessimistic and psychopathic, devoid of all hope and joy.

One of the latest examples of this is the Norwegian Anders Behring Breivik. Breivik admitted to perpetrating twin terror attacks in Norway on 22 July, 2011. One of these was a bomb attack on the government building in Oslo in which 8 people died. The other was an attack on a Labor party youth camp on the island of Utoya. Sixty-nine people lost their lives in that attack.

Before the attacks, Breivik set out his views in his "European Independence Manifesto." On page 1518 he stated that he regarded himself as a champion of the scientific world view and modern biology. Among the books he "most valued" was Charles Darwin's Origin of Species. [16] According to Breivik, "a perfect Europe" must include the laws of social Darwinism. [17]

On page 1202 of his book, Breivik says that he entirely agrees with the Darwinist biologist from Princeton University Lee Silver regarding the re-implementation of eugenics. He agrees with Silver's view that radical policies will have to be applied in the future if the world population is to be reduced to less than half of the current figure, or 3.8 billion. [18] On the same page, Breivik makes it clear that he has signed up to Darwin's argument that "genocide and natural selection ... go hand in hand ":

"Even if the second and third world countries ignores the call of this "hegemony" [to stop having babies], nature will correct their suicidal tendencies as they are unable to feed their populations." [19]

Breivik the goes on to say that there must be no intervention in this natural process, or famine:

"If starvation threatens the countries who have failed to follow our [population capacity] guidelines we should not support them by backing their corrupt leaders or send any form of aid." [20]

"Food aid to 3rd world countries must stop immediately as it is the primary cause of overpopulation." [21]

These words written by Breivik in person clearly show that he had lost all moral values because of his Darwinist education, as a result of which he cold-bloodedly perpetrated his terrorist attacks that cost the lives of dozens of people.

Another example of the moral collapse and savagery caused by Darwinist education is the American serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer, who killed and ate 17 children before he was caught. In a last interview with the Dateline NBC channel immediately before he was put to death, Dahmer made the following statement:

"If a person doesn't think that there is a God to be accountable to, then what's the point of trying to modify your behavior to keep it within acceptable ranges? That's how I thought anyway. I always believed the theory of evolution as truth, that we all just came from the slime [by chance]. When we died, you know, that was it, there was nothing." [22]

Darwin's superstition that has poisoned vast numbers, turns people into serial killers and even makes them psychopathic enough to eat human flesh. That is what comes of this false religion that seeks to indoctrinate people with the idea they have no responsibility to a Creator, that convinces them they are purposeless, irresponsible and aimless entities, that regards human beings as animals and that seeks to turn people away from the fact of the hereafter by portraying death as the end.

Darwinism is the worst perverse force that has caused war, killing, oppression, terror, mass slaughter, degeneration and afflictions of all kinds for the last 200 years. DARWINISM WAS THE WORST DECEPTION AND SCOURGE OF THE LAST CENTURY, and was behind the world wars and the communism and fascism that led to irreligion, racism and mass slaughter in societies at one time.

The unfortunate effects on society of this dark scourge initiated by Darwin have persisted down to the present day. The latest book by Richard Dawkins, one of the most committed devotees of Darwinism today, contains suggestions far removed from belief in Allah that will inevitably lead to pessimism and despair. One of the most significant instances of this was the way that Jesse Kilgore, a 22-year-old student in America, committed suicide under the effect of Dawkins' book he was recommended by a teacher. [23]

The effect of Dawkins' terrifying views based on the sinister ideology of Darwinism are by no means limited to that example. In the foreword to his book Unweaving the Rainbow, Dawkins himself admits that fact:

"A foreign publisher of my first book confessed that he could not sleep for three nights after reading it, so troubled was he by what he saw as its cold, bleak message. Others have asked me how I can bear to get up in the mornings. A teacher from a distant country wrote me reproachfully that a pupil had come to him in tears after reading the same book, because it had persuaded her that life was empty and purposeless. He advised her not to show the book to any of her friends, for fear of contaminating them with the same nihilistic pessimism." [24]

This sinister scourge, Darwinism, is a perverse religion that inflicts death, murder, despair, lack of feeling, terror and savagery and encourages people to think they are nothing more than animals that came into being by chance. The few remaining representatives of that faith are still striving with all their might to turn people away from belief in Allah. That is why they strenuously oppose the teaching of the weaknesses of Darwinism in schools, hide away fossils that prove Creation, and never admit that protein cannot come into being by chance and that more than 350 million fossils totally refute Darwinism. Yet despite all these measures, people in the 21st century are no longer taken in by lies. All the efforts made to keep Darwinism propped up after it was exposed as a fraud have been in vain.

Conclusion:

Bearing in Mind These Destructive Effects of Darwinism on Society There Must Be an End to One-Sided Darwinist Education in Schools

Of course we need to concentrate on the psychologies of the aggressors responsible for the Jokela, Columbine and Virginia Tech University massacres and the personal factors that led them to commit them. However, the basic factor behind all these events is the Darwinist education persisting in schools. As we all know, students are taught that life began spontaneously and that human beings are a species of ape that supposedly emerged through natural selection, as if these were scientific facts. Those responsible for the Jokela, Columbine and Virginia Tech attacks also received this pro-Darwinist instruction.

Darwinism is taught as if it were a scientific reality in school curricula, and it is forbidden for the opposite view, that the universe and human beings were created by Allah in the light of a valuable purpose, to be taught. In other words, Darwinism has been launched as a supposed scientific fact, in a totally biased manner. Yet Darwinism is actually a groundless theory that has totally collapsed in the face of 350 million fossils that show that living things have never changed. When we look a bit deeper, we see that Darwinism, which claims that life emerged from inanimate matter, is even incapable of explaining how its own theory might work. It is a known fact that Darwinists, trapped on the ropes in many areas, have resorted to frauds and hoaxes, such as the "Piltdown Man scandal," in which they attached the jaw bone of an orangutan to a human skull.

There are thousands of dilemmas facing Darwinists of the type outlined in brief above, and the number is increasing all the time as scientific advances are made. Yet students exposed to biased education from very early ages in schools think that the teachings of Darwinism, that lead to savagery, are actually true, and that leads to the most terrible consequences. As well as stories of mass killings in the news, Darwinism can also be seen in many cases of suicide and moral degeneration.

What needs to be done right away is to put an end to the one-sided indoctrination of Darwinism and for the scientific facts that refute Darwinism to be included in the curriculum.

Those who shape educational policies must know that Darwinist education can lead to such consequences, and must feel the responsibility that goes with. The curriculum must be shaped accordingly. And young people must be made aware of the scientific collapse of Darwinism and its ideological background.
